Our main focus in this project, basically creating a twitter like social networking application. When users create an account and joining our social network application, they create and identify themselves with defining their birthdate, gender, name, last name. Users can specialize their account with changing profile picture or bio. They can follow their friends, their favorite locations and what they want with the help of hashtags. They can share different types of posts, such as, photos, texts, re-sharing someone's posts, and combination of all of these can be possible. Users can like and drop comment other users' posts.
